

Paul Chomedey de Maisonneuve LUTE festival

1st Edition 2001

in collaboration with the feasts for the 359th fondation anniversary of Montreal

lute practice in New-France
by Paul Chomedey de Maisonneuve (1612-1676) Montreal's first governor

Michel Cardin lutenist

will play "pièces de luth" to demonstrate the evolution of this music during Maisonneuve's life span: his youth in France and The Netherlands; his maturity in France and in New-France; the end of his life in Paris. The program will include musics that Chomedey could have played in his lifetime: serious, secular and religious repertoires.

Robert Derome lecturer

professeur, département d'histoire de l'art, Université du Québec à Montréal, will show with the help of computerized projections the principal periods of Maisonneuve's carrier through works of art that help illustrate his lifetime. Lectures in French with brief summary in English.
