

FRIENDS

OF

GOD

A new book Friends of God: the Story of the Early Christian Hurons, by Bruce Henry S.J.

In terms designed to appeal to a wide readership the book tells the story of Joseph Chiwatenhwa, his wife Marie Aonetta, and their family members and friends who formed a vibrant Christian community in Huronia during the time that the Jesuit mission Ste-Marie among the Hurons was flourishing.

It is not inconceivable that one day these people, judged in the Jesuit Relations by Jean de Brebeuf and companion to have been gifted with exceptional holiness, may be recognized by Rome as worthy of elevation to the altar. This book aims to promote popular devotion to these people.

Published by Tomiko Press, Friends of God is being sold as a fund-raising venture by Anishinabe Spiritual Centre, the Jesuit retreat centre for Native Indians in Northern Ontario.

Moving

Starting July 1st, the Kateri Center will be located in Kahnawake, two steps away from Kateri's Shrine. The Center has spent 33 years at 1673 Rachel East, Montreal. It would be impossible to evaluate the excellent services rendered to the Cause by so many benevolent hands. Just to mention a few: Srs. Mariette Bergeron, Evangéline Binet, Françoise Constantin, Jeanne Giguère, Emma Robitaille, Lillian Camden, Miss Flora MacDonal, Mrs Florence Légaré, Madeleine Huet, Lise Saint-Germain, Eileen Lazare, as well as the first companion of Fr. Henri Bécharde still on the staff, Albert Lazare. The Kateri Center address will be the same:

Box 70, Kahnawake
 Quebec, J0L 1B0
 Tel.: 638-1546 or 632-6030

Native spirituality

"Telling our Story": such was the theme of the Native Ministries Seminar held at Kateri Hall in Kahnawake, on April 9 to 12. 1st Day: Grassroots Stories of the Native People. 2nd Day: Native Spirituality as told through Story Tellers. 3rd Day: A Native Church.

In the evening, there were sessions of "healing and of reconciliation and Indian dances. The celebration of Kateri's Feast day on April 12 climaxed the Seminar: High Mass with Indian rites, dances, special homily by Bishop Bernard Hubert, the unveiling of a beautiful painting, artistic work of Mrs. Marlene McCauley, already known to all Kateri devotees, from Phoenix, Arizona.
